Akumin Operating Corp.

Hiring Manager

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Billing Operations Analyst role at Akumin. This role sits at the intersection of data analytics and billing accuracy — building dashboards to surface discrepancies, auditing invoices against contract terms, and driving process improvements that reduce billing errors. That combination is where I am strongest, and it maps directly to work I have done.

Billing Analytics and Dashboard Development

At Ferguson Enterprises, I built Power BI dashboards and KPI frameworks for CFO- and VP-level stakeholders — including reporting on financial performance, process backlogs, and variance trends. I analyzed claims data using Excel (pivot tables, VLOOKUPs, complex formula sets) and MS SQL Server, identified root causes of discrepancies, and produced ad hoc reports that gave leadership actionable visibility into outstanding financial exposure. The work you have described — building aging reports, tracking SLA performance, quantifying the financial impact of billing misses — is structurally identical to what I built at Ferguson, applied to a different domain.

Invoice Auditing and Discrepancy Resolution

At Ferguson, I processed freight claim records against documented program criteria: validating accuracy, identifying mismatches between submitted documentation and system data, and escalating cases with clear notes and resolution recommendations. I maintained audit-quality documentation for every item processed. At Born Primitive, I reconciled high-volume records across enterprise systems under strict accuracy standards. The discipline of audit before commit — checking billing inputs before they reach the client — is fundamental to how I work.

Process Improvement and Data Quality

I have led process improvement initiatives that reduced manual data entry and improved data quality in billing and operational workflows. I identify recurring error patterns, recommend workflow changes, and document the improvements in SOPs that can be maintained after the fact. That operational mindset — finding the systemic cause of billing errors rather than just resolving individual cases — is exactly the contribution you have described.

I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to support Akumin's wholesale billing operations. I look forward to discussing the role.

Sincerely,
Alexander Tobin
