Hiring Team

E Logic

Dear Hiring Team,

I'm a Business Analyst and Project Coordinator with seven-plus years supporting IT project delivery in PMO environments, and I'm well-suited for the USCP-supporting role you've posted. Requirements gathering, JIRA backlog management, Agile ceremony facilitation, stakeholder communication, and project documentation are the core of how I work — not skills I've touched occasionally, but the foundation of every project I've delivered.

At Ferguson Enterprises, I facilitated requirements-gathering sessions with C-suite and VP-level stakeholders, developed user stories and acceptance criteria for data and systems projects, and managed project coordination in Azure DevOps through the full Agile cycle — sprint planning, daily standups, sprint reviews, and retrospectives. I maintained project schedules, action logs, and status reports while tracking milestones and dependencies across cross-functional teams, and produced executive summaries for project leadership. In my freelance contractor work across calldcatchai.online, primelayertrades.com, and hereraspreadsheets.com, I've managed multiple concurrent IT project engagements simultaneously — each with its own requirements, documentation, stakeholder communication cadence, and action item tracking. I hold Google Project Management and UVA Project Management certifications and have hands-on experience with JIRA, Confluence, SharePoint, Microsoft Teams, and Teams Planner.

I understand this role supports the United States Capitol Police and involves a background investigation and fingerprinting — I have no concerns with that process and am prepared to complete it. The hybrid arrangement (two days onsite in DC after a two-month acclimation period) also works for me.

I'm organized, responsive, and practiced at keeping project documentation accurate and stakeholder communications clear under shifting priorities. I'd welcome the opportunity to support USCP's IT project delivery through your team. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,
Alexander Tobin
