

Alexander Tobin

Cover Letter

(757) 289-1204 ♦ atobin@alum.utk.edu ♦ Virginia Beach, VA

September 26, 2026

Harbor Health

Hiring Manager

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the Marketing Project & Operations Coordinator role at Harbor Health. Two things about this description stand out to me: the explicit requirement for demonstrated fluency with generative AI tools, and the framing of this role as an operational hub that creates clarity and momentum for the Marketing team. Both are where I thrive.

AI Tool Fluency — Practical, Not Performative

I use AI tools every day as the core of how I work. My current tech stack: Claude Code for architecture, scaffolding, and documentation; ChatGPT for research synthesis and first-draft communications; Cursor for in-file editing with live context; v0 for UI and layout prototyping. I write effective prompts, I know what AI gets wrong (edge cases, brand voice, factual specificity), and I audit every output before it touches a client or stakeholder. The Harbor Health description asks for someone who can leverage AI to accelerate project execution while exercising sound judgment about when and how to use it. That is exactly how I operate — AI increases my output per hour without reducing the quality standard.

Project Coordination and Workflow Infrastructure

For four active freelance clients — callcatchai.online, primelayertrades.com, hereraspreadsheets.com, and kizunaperformance.com — I manage all project intake, tracking, vendor coordination, and stakeholder follow-up. Every project has a clear owner, documented requirements, a timeline with milestones, and a defined escalation path. I build this infrastructure in Airtable, with role-based dashboards, automated status updates, and notifications that keep stakeholders informed without requiring manual check-ins. At Ferguson Enterprises, I introduced Airtable as the centralized project management platform for a cross-functional team and maintained it across a two-year engagement spanning marketing, operations, and ecommerce initiatives.

Marketing and Creative Operations Context

I understand the production cycle for marketing assets — intake, requirements gathering, briefing, creative review rounds, stakeholder approvals, and final delivery. I have coordinated creative and content workflows for client websites, social media campaigns, and digital marketing assets across all four of my current clients, managing external contractors and vendor timelines while keeping projects on schedule.

I am confident I can become the operational backbone Harbor Health's Marketing team needs. I would welcome the chance to discuss the role.

Sincerely,
Alexander Tobin